Glenn Hegar Files for Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts

Austin - The Glenn Hegar Campaign announced today that State Senator Glenn Hegar has made his candidacy for Texas Comptroller official by filing the necessary paperwork with the Republican Party of Texas. Hegar will be a candidate for Texas Comptroller on the ballot for the upcoming March 4th, 2014 primary.

"I'm excited to make my candidacy official," Hegar said. "I've been enjoying traveling across Texas and listening to the concerns and ideas of everyday Texans. Our campaign has been working hard, earning support from the grassroots, and gaining momentum every day."

Over the last few months, the Glenn Hegar Campaign has announced many major endorsements from key leaders and organizations across Texas such as: Comptroller Susan Combs, Michael Quinn Sullivan of Texans for Fiscal Responsibility, Young Conservatives of Texas, Texas Municipal Police Association, Tim Lambert of the Texas Home School Coalition, Elizabeth Graham of Texas Right to Life, Cathie Adams of the Texas Eagle Forum, Texas Department of Public Safety Officer's Association PAC, Carol Everett of the Heidi Group, Kyleen Wright of Texans for Life Coalition, Ann Hettinger, Representative Giovanni Capriglione, Representative Craig Goldman, Representative Stephanie Klick, Representative Matt Krause, Representative Bill Zedler.

"As the next Comptroller of Texas, I pledge to reform spending, reduce debt, and curb the size of government," commented Hegar. "The voters of Texas deserve more transparency and accountability from their government, and that's exactly what they are going to get electing me as their next comptroller."
